A Kiss, With a Touch of Chocolate

This is a small ditty, since everyone likes my work so far I'm hoping to finish some more chapters to my newish fanfic's, that I have finish some more fan art of mine on Deviant art, with more coming later this week if school keeps being nice to me. Thank you all for your love and support... I am such a sap... lol ANYWAY I love you people goes and cries in a corner with a frozen yogurt because of hormones.

It Is a WingXShelby Story, and as you know, with me I loove happy endings so that's what I will always write, but conflicts are too fun to pass up ;)

>Just a kiss, with Chocolate on top

Otto sat with Laura in the accommodation block 7 waiting for Wing and Shelby to meet up with them, it had been about an hour before they got bored waiting for them and decided to go and find them.

They searched the cafeteria and the grappler cavern before going to HIVES dojo, and there they found the two of them sparring.

Laura was about to open the door before Otto stopped her.

"I have an idea" he said pulling her towards him and whispering his plan into her ear.

She giggled and nodded while they went to grab a few "special" items.

>"That's it for me" Shelby said taking off her helmet and gloves before putting them away.

"I am finished as well" Wing agreed before putting his gear away and grabbing two bottles of water.

"Shelby" He nudged Shelby offering one to his girlfriend.

"Thanks Sugar" she giggled before giving him a peck on the cheek.

They grabbed their things and they started towards the door when they heard a knock at the door.

Shelby looked at Wing who shrugged, then slowly opened the door.

She peered out of the door and was rewarded with a face full of melted chocolate.

"Happy Valentine's Day!" Otto yelled running down the hallway.

The furious blond tried to after him but ran the door had clear tape covering the majority of the threshold, she looked to her left to see Laura with a roll of tape running after Otto.

Stuck to the tape and splattered with chocolate, she thrashed around, trying to break free of the tape, pulling a bit of her hair in the process. After crying a few threats along with quite a few profanities, two strong hands came up behind her and gently helped her get untangled.

The second she was loose, Shelby slammed the door hard. She slumped to the floor still facing away from Wing.

Wing looked at her for a moment before he noticed a slight shake in her shoulders, he slowly sat down beside her, turning to look at her, and he saw tears slowly fall down her chocolate covered face.

"Shelby?" he said softly, she turned towards him, trying to wipe her tears but only wiping chocolate all over her face.

He grabbed his towel and took her face in his hand while he wiped away the chocolate from her face, carefully avoiding one area in the process.

"Thanks" Shelby said softly as he softly cleaned her face.

"You're welcome" he said smiling softly

She started to get up but he stopped her, his hand on her shoulder, bringing her back down to sit by him.

He set down the towel, and took her face in both his hands.

"I believe i missed a spot" he said smiling

He slowly kissed her still chocolate covered lips (hat he had conveniently avoided cleaning) softly, gently tasting the chocolate as they kissed.

>Raven had a routine.

She always meets Wing in the dojo each evening.

Today that routine changed when she found her student on the floor of said dojo with a blond girl on top of him kissing.

>I did this trick on a friend of mine once, I put a bunch of clear tape over the door with the sticky side facing where the people come out of the door but leaving an opening, then you get something nice and gooey and the second they open that door YOU THROW IT THEN RUN LIKE HEAK! They try to chase you and get caught in invisible tape :D

file.
